

THUNDER BAY INTERNATIONAL AIRPORTS AUTHORITY INC.
WELCOMES TIDY TRAYS™
to the
THUNDER BAY INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

Press Release
SEPTEMBER 7, 2011

The Thunder Bay International Airports Authority (TBIAA) welcomes Dan Cheal and Tidy Trays™ to the Thunder Bay International Airport community.

Designed by Company President, Dan Cheal, the Tidy Tray™ concept developed from his experiences as a parent with small children. Too frequently, high chair trays in public spaces, whether a restaurant, day care facility, food court, or even another home, were less than ideal in terms of visible cleanliness. Wanting to protect his child, Dan developed the idea of a portable, washable, and safe tray cover - thus was born the Tidy Tray™.

With its introduction at the Thunder Bay International Airport, the Tidy Tray™ is expanding its market to include air travelers wishing to ensure a sanitary surface on fold down trays in aircraft.

Samples of this innovative product can be seen in the display case located on the main floor of the terminal building.

The Tidy Tray is currently available from Canadian Walmart stores from coast to coast, including the local Walmart; the introduction to the Thunder Bay International Airport marks its international debut in the air travel sector.

Passages Gift Shop, located on the second floor of the terminal building, is delighted to offer the Tidy Tray product line to their discerning clientele.

The Tidy Tray product line represents the latest example of Thunder Bay International Airports Authority's continued commitment to offer retail exposure for local entrepreneurs and artisans.

For more information, contact:

Scott McFadden, President and CEO of the TBIAAI - 473-2600 www.thunderbayairport.com
Dan Cheal, President of Dream Big Innovations (Makers of Tidy Trays™) www.tidy-trays.com